PROTECT YOUR DEALERSHIP

RESPONDING TO FACTORY DEFICIENCY
LETTERS

Bellavia Blatt, PC Has Been Representing Automobile Dealers for Over 30 Years

The Law Firm of Bellavia Blatt will provide you with experienced automotive legal advice to help your dealership understand, address and successfully navigate the process of responding to factory deficiency letters. A deficiency letter should never be ignored.

- What is a factory deficiency letter and what does it mean for the dealership?
- Are you in danger of breaching the Dealer Agreement?
- Are there valid grounds to terminate the dealership?
- How do we respond timely and appropriately to preserve your rights?

Your franchise is a valuable asset that must be protected. Your failure to promptly address a deficiency letter jeopardizes the franchise. At Bellavia Blatt, we serve as your “front line” defense against any factory notice that your dealership may receive. Our attorneys will:

- Timely respond to any alleged deficiency with evidence and market data favorable to your dealership.
- Be aggressive with the factory (so that you do not have to, avoiding an uncomfortable working relationship between the dealership and its reps).
- Draft response letters on dealership letterhead or on our firm’s letterhead, as you prefer.
- Commence a legal proceeding or administrative hearing, if necessary.
- Advise you throughout the entire process.
